The Ever Popular Progressive Euchre, The members of the R street Euchre club were delightfully entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Rehlaender, 1220 R street on Tuesday evening. Seven tables were or on Riesiay evening. Seven tables were oc-cupied by the merry card players who were kept busily engaged with the game until late in the evening when they were called upon to partake of the excellent refreshments that had been prepared for them by the hostees. It was one of the largest meetings the club has held this reason, every member being has held this season, every member being present with one exception. Quite a novel present with one exception. Quite a novel feature of the evening was the score card used by the players. In the corner was a minature portrait of President Harrison with the words "Our President" under it, and was quite an original and appropriate design on the occasion of the first gathering under the new administration. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Buckstaff, Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Raymond, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Raymond, Mr. and Mrs. Muir, Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon, Mr. and Mrs. Burnham, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard, Mr. and Mrs. A. Surprised at Fifty-seven.

Saturday evening Mr. R. R. Randall arranged a pleasant surprise on his estimable lady, Mrs. Rebecca A. Randall. Early in the evening Mrs. Randall accepted an invitation out for tea at the home of her daughter Mrs. T. Miltenberge, and returning about eight o'clock found the house peopled with a gay assembly of friends and relations who had come to extend best wishes on her fity-seventh birthday. A pleasant social evening followed during which time all enjoyed the occasion most heartily A number of tokens of friendship were left, showing the esteem in which the lady is held. Surprised at Fifty-seven.

The Pastors Reception.

Truly Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Ewing have the suse of the church at heart. This was fully emonstrated Monday evening at their cosy home, when a reception was given Rev. and Mrs. Hewett. The able devine is Trinitys ing present on this occasion may be taken as an evidence, certainly the new arrival will prove a most welcome one. The members of Trinity and their friends were present in large numbers and heartily greeted the hon-ored guest. Refreshments were served later in the evening and ought but complin words were heard on every hand regarding the success of the reception.

The Germanie Mannerchor gave a private nasquerade ball last Monday evening which was a very enjoyable affair. Among the large was a very enjoyable affair. Among the large number of grotesque and beautiful costumes those of Ernest Hoppe as an old German, Richard Nobes as a Jew peddler, Fred Shaef-er as a Cavalry Hussar, Miss Dean as Colum-bia, Miss Schonecker as Morning Star, and Miss Ohnieng as America deserve special

May I Have the Next Talk? The young people of the Congregational church held a conversational ball in the church parlors Wednesday evening. It was the first one the kind ever held in Lincoln and romises to be quite an interesting feature among church sociables. About twenty couples partic:pated and the young men eag-erly filled their programs with the names of he most interesting and talkative young lad ies with whom they wished to converse. Dur-ing the intermission refreshments were in-dulged in, in the shape of baskets of daintily prepared eatables which were procured of the ladies at the small expense of twenty-five cents. All present report a delightful time. A Party at the "Pen"

Last evening a large number of the young people of Linch were conveyed to the "Pen" and detained there long enough to participate in a delightful farewell party given in honor of Miss Hyers, by the "T. A. M." club of which she is a member. The club had invited a large number of the Pleasant Hour jundant iors and the combined forces of the two clubs made the affair an enjoyable one.

The East Lincolnites. Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Beams entertained the East Lincoln social club Thursday evening in a most pleasant manner. The spacious residence Twenty-fourth and R street was well filled, nearly every member being present be-side a few invited guests. Cards ane dancing with a bountiful spread of refreshing goodles, made the evening pass by exceptably enjoy-able for all. The club will next be entertain ed Mr. and Mrs. Stephens on East Q street The Burlington Leads the Van. Notwithstanding reports to the contrary, the "Burlington" is still the quickest and by all odds the best route to Chicago and the

Wanted to Be Relieved.

Gen. Turn Moonlight, new governor of Wyoming, took from Chienge on the occasion of his recent lecture visit the memory of a pleasant incident. He was standing in the rotunds of the Grand Pacific hotel early in the evening when a respectable looking old gentleman approached with the inquiry: "Is this Gen. Tom Moonlight?"

"The same," was the general's genial rejoinder. "What can I do for you?"

The old gentleman saluted and said precisely: "I am Private Joseph Creer, Company C, Twentieth Missouri, in scouting service under your command, and I request to be relieved."

Gen. Moonlight smiled first, and then, im-to be relieved."

Gen. Moonlight smiled first, and then, impressed by the old man's serious mien, his glance grew incredulous, and with the last words he was flushed with smbarrassment. He surveyed the veteran and adjudged him to be in comfortable estate, but there was no mistaking the character of the appeal, so he thrust his band into his pocket, asking pleasantly: "How much will be of service to von"

The old soldier threw off his deferential manner with a loud laugh, and seizing the general's arm cried: "You con't understand. I want to be relieved from duty. April 14, 1865, coming twenty-four years this spring, I was assigned by your orders to a picket station, at Corn Landing on the Missouri, fifteen miles from Kansas City. My orders were explicity to stay there until relieved. I stood by my post two weeks, rationed by a Union family living close at hand, and would prob-ably have been there yet if a fellow on a load of hay hadn't have answered my challenge by the positive declaration that the war was over. I thought it strange I didn't hear from headquarters, so I put my duty in my pocket and went down to Kansas City. I learned there that the war was truly over and the army disbanded. I never got a discharge, and when I was in Washington last year I looked over the war records and found that I am officially still standing sentry at Old Corn Landing. No, I don't want to be relieved for a fact, as my case is the only one of its kind in the history of the United States army."-Chicago Tribune.

Chauncey Rode in Their Papa's Carriage. Chauncey Mitchell Depew sat in his libra- say and you can't afford to miss it. ry one afternoon last week, talking to a delegation of railroad men who had called upon him, when they heard a terrible clatter on the piazza. The noise increased. The children's voices drowned the silvery, rippling conversational tones of Chauncey. The guests first smiled, then frowned. Mr. Depew was pleased with their smiles, but annoyed eir frowns. So he arose and said:

"I will make an investigation. This noise must stop."

Mr. Depew went outside, and to his surprise found his coachman's children raising old Nick. They paid but little attention to him, owever, and his presence did not lessen their clatter. Growing impatient, he said: "Children, do you know who I am?"

"Oh! Yes, we do," said a little 5-year-old tot to the great railroad man. "You're the man that rides in my papa's carriage."—New York Evening Sun.

A Slight Misunderstanding.

She was very sick and her husband sent for the doctor. I think that ladies have so little to do nowadays that it is a kind of way they have of amusing themselves—getting sick and sending for the doctor. I don't believe we will ever have female doctors to any extent. If we do it will be mainly for children. Men will never take kindly to female doctors. I suppose it may be an unjust opinion, but I can't fancy a man being very spoony with a doctor. There is a distinct prejudice in mankind against a woman who has anything of a practical nature except about the

He doesn't mind if she can hang pictures and nail down carpets and sew on buttons, but a scientific woman is always viewed with suspicion. A male doctor, for instance, always says it is the liver or the stomach; a fenale doctor would probably say it was the heart, and she would very often be right. The ladies don't want a female doctor. It is in some cases the only chance they have of eeing a man when they are sick. However, the doctor was called in, and, of course, immediately wrote out a prescription. It was for some pills, to be taken every third day. He came again the next morning.

"Well, did you take the pills!" "No, doctor, the three days are not up until Wednesday,"—San Francisco Chronicle.
